A Level 4.0 Inpatient Withdrawal and Treatment Facility in an Acute-Care Hospital

The $3.8 million CNX Foundation Substance Recovery Unit at Penn Highlands Mon Valley, which is located on the Seventh Floor, is the only Level 4.0 inpatient withdrawal and treatment facility in Washington and Westmoreland counties. Level 4.0 treatment facilities are for patients who require more advanced and specialized care with the support and resources of a full acute-care hospital. The Unit also provides a 3.7 Bio Medically enhanced level of care which is the first- of-its-kind in Western Pennsylvania. The CNX Foundation Substance Recovery Unit, which is totally voluntary, provides continuum of care for people with medical conditions such as diabetes, cardiac problems and wounds in addition to substance abuse. The unit provides treatment and rehabilitation for people through the first stage of substance withdrawal, early treatments and rehabilitation to facilitate the patients to the next phase of care.

The CNX Foundation Substance Recovery Unit offers highly specialized care to medically manage patients with dignity and respect. Features include:

- A safe, secure and supportive environment.
- Fourteen private and spacious inpatient rooms.
 - Two ADA rooms.
 - Two isolation/negative pressure rooms.
- Fourteen medical hospital beds.
- Twenty-four hour access to the hospitalists, Emergency Department, Cardiac Care Unit, Behavioral Health Unit, Medical Imaging and Lab at Penn Highlands Mon Valley.
- Private Consultation Rooms.
- Comfortable Group Therapy Rooms.
- An Activity Dining Room for socialization.
- A Quiet Activity Room for meditation, reading, etc.
- A Family Interaction Room with video conferencing access.
- A “no barriers” Admissions Facilitator Liaison working in collaboration with community organizations.
